The traditional Slovenian breakfast is a glass of milk, a slice or two of bread with butter and honey, and an apple or some other local fruit.

The traditional British breakfast, sometimes called a 'fry-up', includes bacon, sausages, fried eggs, baked beans, potatoes, tomatoes, mushrooms, toast, and often a slice of black pudding (similar to blood sausage). The English usually drink coffee or tea with their breakfast. Most people don't cook a full English breakfast very often – usually on Saturday or Sunday, or on Christmas Day morning.

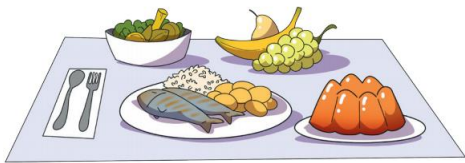

The traditional Slovenian breakfast		The traditional British breakfast healthy items	unhealthy items	healthy items	unhealthy items
milk, bread with butter and honey, an apple (or local fruit)	(butter)	fried eggs, baked beans, potatoes, tomatoes, mushrooms, toast, coffee, tea	bacon, sausages, black pudding

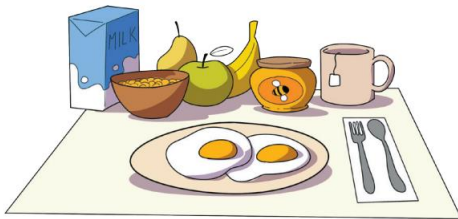

Notes:

- Butter is rich in nutrients and beneficial compounds. Still, butter is high in calories and saturated fat and should be enjoyed in moderation.
- A full English breakfast can be a healthy option, but it entirely depends upon the quality of the ingredients and the method of cooking. A full English breakfast can be a healthy option if it includes a balance of protein, carbohydrates, and healthy fats. However, it can also be high in calories and saturated fat if it includes items such as sausages, bacon, and fried eggs.
- For most people, moderate coffee consumption can be incorporated into a healthy diet.
